About our Commentaries

All commentaries are intended for use by Strategy's clients, their representatives and consultants. Strategy does not authorize distribution of these commentaries by any third parties. Our commentaries should not be considered to be recommendations to buy, sell or hold any security or investment, and no one should rely upon our commentaries as research or investment advice. Non-factual statements, including statements about possible future events, reflect our subjective views and/or present intentions as of the date the commentary was written. These statements are subjective, are not representations or warranties; and are subject to change at any time without notice. We do not guarantee that our views or opinions will be correct, and our intentions to buy or sell particular securities in the future may change.

Our Opinions

The views expressed in this commentary were current as of their date. Sector and security positions may have changed. Do not assume that every account managed by Strategy holds the particular securities discussed in this commentary. Individual accounts may be subject to varying investment restrictions. Past performance is no guarantee of future results.

Additional disclosures

We obtained certain information from third party sources that we believe are reliable, but we have not independently verified the information and cannot guarantee its accuracy or completeness. Indices are for illustrative purposes only; are unmanaged; assume reinvestment of income; do not represent the performance of actual accounts; and may have different volatility, credit, or other material characteristics (such as number or types of securities). One cannot invest directly in an index.
